I LOVE YOU

Love, what are you doing with me?
I didn't expect what I see.

Should these feelings be killing me?
Or maybe it's a proof to see.

A proof that doesn't let me sleep?
I know it's worth to keep.

A proof that doesn't let me eat?
Now only love can feed.

Is it good, what I have in my head?
You said, have patience for that.

Can I really handle this situation?
I hope so, but I have a lot of passion.

Have I thought well about this love?
I am sure I have thought and waited enough.

But why does it hurt so much in my soul and heart?
It should be a nice feeling and not so hard.

You said my words are negative and don't sound nice?
But you should know, feelings always come twice.

Why do feelings come twice, and for what?
To compare both sides of love, for that.

Is it worth waiting for you?
Definitely, because I love you.

Karl Schnürch

Seychelles, 2017