APPLES

Let me explain it with a story, maybe then you'll understand me better…

Once upon a time there were two guys. They saw a wonderful tree full of beautiful apples. The first guy took an apple because he was very hungry and hadn't eaten for a long time. The other took lots of apples, even though he had plenty of apples in his own garden, and he also took from other gardens, because he was greedy.

Yes, both of them are thieves, but you can see the different intentions.

That means: marriage is NOT always the same marriage!

I understand your principles, and I respect them, even though it is disappointing…
